BODY TREATMENTS & CELLULITE

PhytoCell Cream Strong

A very effective texture for a shock action. The presence of phytoextracts, such as caffeine, guarana and muira puama, allows you to effectively combat the imperfections of cellulite, stimulating peripheral microcirculation and leading to the progressive decrease of fat deposits. Enriched with oils rich in linoleic acid and shea butter, it has the ability to protect skin hydration, promoting the recovery of soft, supple and compact skin.

Adipocell Cream Plus

Body cream useful for combating the imperfections of advanced stage cellulite.

The treatment is addressed to all the women who want to improve the appearance of the orange peel skin and reduce the circumference of the legs-hips-belly. Thanks to the synergistic action of the active ingredients, this intensive formula performs a triple action against the imperfections of cellulite: it stimulates the lipolysis of fats, facilitates the drainage of excess fluids, exerts a slight local hyperemia favoring the action of the contained ingredients, such as the ivy phytoextract. Sea oak, a brown seaweed with strong iodophore properties, favors the dissolution of the cushions (cuscineti??), visibly compressing the typical orange peel appearance. The emollient and elasticizing properties of corn oil help to make the skin soft and smooth.

Reducing Cream

An exclusive formula that makes uses of the combined action of specific natural principles that have an effect on the curves, reshaping and refining the silhouette. The presence of caffeine and fucus during the massage increase the mobility of fats with a remodeling effect, as well as reactivating the microcirculation and reabsorption of subcutaneous fluids. Furthermore, the synergy of arnica, ivy, hops and echinacea extracts act effectively against cellulite. During application, a slight sensation of heat develops which makes the skin more receptive to the active substances.

Rassocell Cream

Tones and firms the tissues by progressively reshaping the silhouette. Over the years, sun exposure, pollution, temperature changes, stress, diets, and hormonal variations cause progressive changes at the level of the dermis where there is a gradual degeneration of the matrix to support the connective tissue, while on the surface aesthetic problems such as dryness, dehydration, up to skin relaxation occur. Rassocell combines easily absorbed textures with the effectiveness of active substances capable of bringing tone and elasticity to our tissues. The phytoextracts of brown algae, arnica, echinacea, ivy, horse chestnut and hops have an adjuvant action on the functions of the microcirculation and purify the tissues, facilitating cell renewal in the active substances contained. We do not recommend its use for those suffering from fragile capillaries.

500 ml € 34,00

Caffeine Cellulite Gel

Revolutionary slimming treatment, for the maintenance of the silhouette thanks to the lipolytic activity of caffeine which stimulates the drainage and removal of stagnant liquids. This precious fluid gel is enriched with natural extracts of hops and brown algae that act in synergy, favoring the tone of the tissues. Already after the first applications, localized fat deposits are visibly reduced, and the skin is compact, soft and smooth.

Flat Belly Emulsion

Exceptional remodeling treatment to effectively combat imperfections in the waist and curves on the hips. Its formula is characterized by the presence of gotu kola, which, thanks to its content of triterpene derivatives, phytosterols, flavonoids, tannins, carotenoids, has been used for years for its peculiar activities on those tissues that appear relaxed. This stimulating action results in a greater production of collagen, with the effect of improving the connective structure of the dermis. The result is a turgid and elastic skin. In addition, the presence of pineapple extract acts by promoting the drainage of edematous tissues, helping to combat swelling and cases of water retention. The silhouette is firmed and as if redesigned, the hips will appear more harmonious and the belly flattened.

Fat Pad Emulsion

Soft and rich, with a pleasant peach scent, thanks to the echinacea extracts present within it, it helps the body to reabsorb excess fluids, prevent collagen degradation, and dissolve the accumulated fat pads over time. Sea oak, one of the main natural remedies to combat fat deposits, is a typical seaweed of the English Channel thanks to its richness in polysaccharides, alginic acid, laminarin, iodine, mucilage and many mineral salts. Finally, caffeine has an effective draining action.

Inner Thigh Emulsion

Many women, even if they are thin, tend to accumulate fat and slack in the inner thighs, as this part of the body is rich in adipocytes. Dissolving accumulated fat deposits is not easy, but it is still possible thanks to this emulsion rich in active substances. From the very first applications, the skin appears smoother and more compact. With continuous use, the contours of the inner thigh, thanks also to the action of the horsetail, are more defined, toned and firmed. The inner thigh emulsion is enhanced with kojic acid, a functional agent with a depigmenting and smoothing action of the complexion, in addition to the presence of ginko biloba extract which has a marked anti-free radical activity, as well as possessing a strong protective action.

Firming Buttocks Emulsion

Emulsion specifically designed for the treatment of the buttocks with a reducing action. It has a firming and invigorating action, thanks to presence of hops, strengthening the supporting tissues of the epidermis and helping to reduce the buttocks, leaving the skin smooth, soft and elastic. Furthermore, the presence in the formula of ivy extract, rich in glycosides, flavonoids, mineral salts and saponins increases the resistance of the capillary walls, consequently decreasing their permeability. This result into a better absorption of edema and a positive reduction in water retention. This rich and fresh emulsion, with a pleasant scent, gives the buttocks elasticity, firmness and turgidity.
